1956—A Year of Changes

As the Summer School of Alcohol Studies proceeds to its 13th year it is to be expected that it will have undergone many alterations since its origin in 1943. The past year, however, has been particularly marked by changes, changes above all in the formal appearance of the Laboratory and the Center of which the School is an integrated part.

First we have to report the retirement of Dr. Howard W. Haggard, director of the Laboratory since 1938. It was under his leadership that the Yale studies on alcohol were first launched, that the Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol was founded, that specialists from other fields were joined with physiology to form the inter-disciplinary Section (later Center) of Alcohol Studies, that the Summer School was inaugurated, the Yale Plan Clinics introduced, the National Committee for Education on Alcoholism (now the National Council on Alcoholism) was organized, the Classified Abstract Archive and the Master Bibliography of the alcohol literature were realized. And these are but labels for some of the more concrete achievements. Perhaps credit for organizing any one of these unique, lasting, productive and outstanding resources would be enough for any man. To these accomplishments, however, must be added Doctor Haggard's own research on the metabolism and physiology of alcohol as well as research not related to alcohol; his writings in this field (e.g., Alcohol Explained with Jelloes, and a score of articles both scientific and popular) and in other fields (e.g., Devils, Drugs and Doctors); and for many tens of thousands of persons across the country perhaps most outstanding, his witty, incisive, and extraordinarily lucid public speaking.

Students of the last three sessions of the School did not see Doctor Haggard. Drafted by the University for organizing and orienting its new division of University Development, and increasingly interupted by ill health, he was unable to participate in the summer sessions. Still active as Editor of the Journal and as advisor to the Laboratory and Center, Doctor Haggard has taken up permanent residence in Florida.

On July 1, the day that Doctor Haggard's retirement became effective, the title of the Laboratory was changed. Urged by the Medical School for several years, because of confusion rising between its Department of Physiology and the totally separate Laboratory of Applied Physiology, the University Corporation approved a new title. We are now part of the Laboratory of Applied Biodynamics. This formidable noun, by the way, is a synonym for physiology. The change in title is a change in title only, and is not accompanied by any other alterations in scope, procedure, functions or relationship to the University or Center.

July 1, 1956, was a busy day. Not only did the two changes above occur, and not only was it opening day of the 14th session of the Summer School, but it was also induction day for the Laboratory's new director, Professor Leon A. Greenberg. As associate director for the past four years, as a participant in every session of the Summer School and as a member of the Laboratory staff since 1934, Doctor Greenberg needs little introduction to the alumni. His work concerning alcohol and traffic, his invention of the Alcometer, his objective and also provocative studies of inoxication, his joint researches with Haggard in the metabolism and physiology of alcohol, his current studies with Carpenter on physiological psychology, his forceful and occasionally sardonic presentations from the platform, not only at the School but throughout this country and abroad, will all serve to remind the alumni of the man and of his competence for this new and demanding responsibility.

One more change, one that will be apparent to any who may visit us in 1957, relates to physical structure. The building at 32 Hillhouse has been enlarged by a one-floor addition at the rear of the building and major renovation of the old ground floor. On the first of the year the Archive, the Journal and the Publications Division moved into their new quarters. Not only did this give them much-needed increase in space, but it eliminated the need of transporting literally thousands of pounds of publications from street level to third floor and then down again to be mailed or expressed or freighted away. The third floor will now become available to those in the overcrowded facilities of the rest of the building, will allow us a conference room and, we expect, a library.

So, 1956 was a year of many changes. However, they were not changes radically affecting the School nor, except for the retirement of Doctor Haggard, are they changes which have altered the personnel or purposes or procedures of the Laboratory and Center. Our letterheads, our building and our director have changed, but it is more a difference in form than in function, philosophy or morale. We are still quite recognizable and hope you will approve our new appearance.

Selden D. Bacon
Alcohol and Emotional Tensions

A PREVIOUS article in the Alumni News described a new program of experimental study on which this Laboratory was then embarking. The study was to deal with the effects of various amounts of alcohol on emotional tension. While knowledge of the depressant action of alcohol on the central nervous system and observed changes in behavior caused by alcohol have long suggested that alcohol may diminish the intensity of emotional response to some stressful stimuli, this concept has not been subjected to adequate controlled experimental verification. This neglect has been due mainly to the lack of measurable objective criteria of emotional activation. Verification that alcohol does alter the threshold of emotional response would add to our insight concerning the long and universal use of alcoholic beverages.

In the studies conducted at this Laboratory, recorded measurement of electrical skin conductance was used as an index of emotional activation in human volunteers. The magnitude of galvanic skin response to graded experimental stress stimuli, and the effects of various amounts of alcohol on this response, were measured in a number of subjects. The results have been unequivocal. Relatively small amounts of alcohol have a distinct effect in diminishing the degree of emotional tension generated in response to a stressful stimulus. A first report on this work, by Dr. John Anthony Carpenter, will appear in the March 1957 issue of the Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol.

In view of the success which this experimental technique appears to offer in evaluating emotional activation objectively, and since the effects of even small amounts of alcohol seem susceptible to detection and measurement, this work is being extended to include studies of the effectiveness of various so-called tranquilizing agents on the threshold of emotional response.

LEON A. GREENBERG

Dear Alumni:

We are pleased to send you this thirteenth edition of the ALUMNI NEWS and are gratified by the letters of appreciation received in the past for this service.

As I review the progress made during the last fourteen years in the field of rehabilitation and alcohol education both in the United States and Canada, I am amazed. In my opinion, the influence of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies has been responsible for this progress to an immeasurable degree.

I trust that each of you will share in underwriting the cost of this Alumni Bulletin by mailing your annual contribution of $1.00 to me, at 311 West Grace Street, Richmond 20, Virginia.

Make your plans now to attend the Alumni Reunion in 1958.

Cordial best wishes to each one of you.

Sincerely,

Wayne W. Womer, '45
Alumni Secretary
Around the U.S.A.

ALABAMA

Paul Irvine, '40, Auburn, head of the Education Interpretation Service of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is editing alcohol education material for teachers and students.

Mrs. Murray W. Fancher, '50, Montevallo, teaches extension classes in alcohol education and summer courses at State Teachers College.

Robert R. Evans, '52, Auburn, is Professor of Education at Alabama Polytechnic Institute teaching two classes yearly and acting as consultant on alcohol problems.

A Workshop Conference on Alcoholism, co-sponsored by the Social Hygiene and Mental Health Association and the Community Services Committee of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., was held in Birmingham on December 11 and 12. Alumni participating were Maj. James B. Short, '56, of the Salvation Army; Carey W. Phillips, '51, of the State Department of Education; Ralph M. Henderson, '47, and Prof. Selden D. Bacon of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies.

ARIZONA

Frank H. Cardwell, '53, Phoenix, President of the Board of the Franklin Hospital, is concentrating his activities on promoting educational work in the school system.

The Rev. Charles F. Parker, '54, pastor of the Congregational Christian Church at Prescott, delivered the invocation at the second session of the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

ARKANSAS

Clyde G. Coulter, '43, Little Rock, is State Superintendent of the Temperance League of Arkansas.

Allison C. Brown, '56, Director of the Arkansas Commission on Alcoholism, writes: "Our funds have been limited since our Legislature did not have a chance to vote on an appropriation measure for us and most of our time has been spent in exploring other agencies that we might have a definite plan to lay before the Legislative Council."

CALIFORNIA

An article on "Woodside Acres," a hospital for alcoholics, was in the April 1956 issue of Listen, a publication of the American Temperance Society. Lloyd F. Eckmann, '55, Redwood City, is director of the facility.

Henry F. Brown, '43, is national representative of Narcotics Education, Inc., with the Pacific Press Publishing Association of Mountain View. His work is to arrange for speakers in high schools throughout the county.

Dr. L. H. Lowrance, '41, Loma Linda, is associate professor in the Department of Pharmacology of the College of Medical Evangelists. He lectures on alcohol problems to students of medicine and dentistry and to college and high school groups.

The Rev. Norman W. Taylor, '44, South Gate, works with the Methodist Board of Social Study Action and is a member of the local Self-Government Leage of California.

Mrs. Margaret H. Hawkins, '44, Palo Alto, is doing case work with alcoholic clients of the Family Service Association and in organizing an Al-Anon group.

Dr. Dillon W. Treats, '44, Tulare, is a member of the General Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church and a member of the California-Nevada Conference Board of Temperance.

Lloyd E. Webster, '46, Los Angeles, is the director of the Division of Health Education of the Los Angeles County Board of Education and is alcoholism consultant to schools in the county.

Merlin L. Neff, '47, Mountain View, is book editor of the Pacific Press Association where he edits books on various phases of alcohol and narcotics problems.

Robert T. Dorris, '48, Azusa, does volunteer work for the Pasadena Committee on Alcoholism and the Mental Hygiene Department of Los Angeles County.

The Rev. Patrick O. Hannan, '49, Proctor, is assistant superintendent of Roman Catholic schools in the diocese of Fresno. He is developing a unit on alcoholism for the local Catholic schools.

Gordon McWhirter, '50, is a psychiatric social worker with the Sacramento State Mental Hygiene Clinic, doing psychotherapy with alcoholics. He is vice-chairman of the Sacramento Committee on Alcoholism and chairman of the Committee on Alcoholism of the Sacramento Community Welfare Council.

Emmet Daly, '51, San Francisco, writes that he is "Father" of the Adult Guidance Center there. He is Chairman of the Liquor Section of the California State Alcoholic Rehabilitation Commission.

Jean Shellum, '51, San Francisco, is doing part-time work at the Adult Guidance Center for Alcoholics.

William A. Anderson, '52, Director of the Social Services Department of the San Francisco Council of Churches, is doing liaison work between the churches and social agencies concerned with alcoholism in the county jail population.

Miss Laura McLaughlin, '54, Executive Director of the Pasadena Committee on Alcoholism, is operating an information center, counseling alcoholics, directing a program of community education, planning programs for radio, and speaking to school, church and club groups.

Mrs. Claire Bradner, '55, West Sacramento, is Executive Secretary of the Sacramento Committee on Alcoholism.

The Rev. Richard E. Byfield, '55, Sunnyvale, is serving on the Episcopal Diocesan Committee on Alcoholism of the Department of Christian Social Relations.

Frances Todd, '53, Millbrae, is a curriculum assistant for alcohol and narcotic education with the San Francisco Unified Schools and has been preparing resource books for teachers in these fields.

COLORADO

Mrs. Mary Beebe Delehanty, '48, Denver, helped establish the Women Alcoholics' Rehabilitation Center. She is a volunteer worker for the Colorado Commission on Alcoholism and a member of the Committee on Alcohol Education.

Mrs. Frana McCambridge, '52, Denver, Executive Director of the Colorado Commission on Alcoholism, reports that information centers have been established in Pueblo, Greeley and Grand Junction and that "The House of Hope," a rehabilitation center for women alcoholics, opened in May.

The Rev. Arthur Pierpont, '56, Colorado Springs, has been appointed by the Governor of Colorado to fill a vacancy on the Colorado Commission on Alcoholism. In making this appointment, the Governor noted that the Protestant Episcopal Church had undertaken a study of alcoholism and rehabilitation as a national project and had sent a large number of its clergy to the Summer School.

A Colorado Institute on Alcoholism sponsored by the Colorado Commission on Alcoholism, the Colorado State Department of Health, the University of Colorado Medical Center and the Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education and Welfare was held in Denver on February 7, 1957. Alumni participating in the Institute were Marty Mann, '44, New York City, Frana McCambridge, '52, Denver, and the Rev. Arthur Pierpont, '56, Colorado Springs.

The Pueblo Committee on Alcoholism had an institute on November 14, 1956. The Denver Committee has an institute scheduled for February 7 and 8, 1957. Alumni participating in these institutes are Frana McCambridge, '52, the Rev. LeRoy Louis, '53, the Rev. Arthur Pierpont, '56, and Norma Johannes, '52.

CONNECTICUT

Dr. Charles G. Chakerian, '51, Hartford, Director of the Institute of Church Social Service of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, is teaching courses on alcoholism, conducting research and giving public lectures.

Joseph L. Marra, '51, East Hartford, is chief of Rehabilitation Services at the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education.

Elisabeth H. Stein, '52, Westport, has contact with children of alcoholic parents as well as the parents in her position as guidance counselor, Long Lots Junior High School.

The Rev. Alfred Mattes, '52, formerly of Glastonbury and Chairman of the Alcohol Education Committee of the Connecticut Council of Churches, has now moved to St. Michael and St. George Episcopal Church in St. Louis, Missouri.
Jane M. Maltby, '53, Hamden, is Director of Psychological Services for the Board of Education, works with students whose parents have an alcohol problem.

Joan T. Augustin, '54, West Haven, is Clinical Instructor at the Laurel Heights Tuberculosis Sanitarium where she conducts classes in “Understanding the Alcoholic” for student nurses and advises individuals on where to seek help and information regarding alcoholism.

The United Temperance Society of Connecticut, at its 66th annual meeting in Hartford, was addressed by The Reverend Wayne W. Woerner, '43, Richmond, Virginia. Dr. Paul W. Stoddard, '48, Falls Village, was elected president of the society.

Selden D. Bacon was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of the New Haven area. After the speech the problem of the alcoholic tubercular patient in the sanitarium and at home was discussed by Professor Bacon, Dr. Melvin H. Rodman, '54, and an ex-alcoholic who had suffered from tuberculosis.

Raymond Byrne, '53, New Haven, is Director of the Compass Club, a rehabilitation facility for alcoholics established by the Connecticut Commission on Alcoholism.

Janet C. Cooper, '54, New Britain, School Nurse and Health Instructor at the Waterbury State Technical School, is instructing teen-agers on the social problems related to alcohol.

Jean M. McPhetrie, '54, Middletown, a psychiatric social worker at Connecticut State Hospital, is doing group therapy and case work with alcoholic patients and is sponsoring an A.A. patient group.

Dr. A. A. Neuwirth, '54, New Haven, Director of the Small Plants Medical Program of the Chamber of Commerce, is concerned with alcohol problems in industry.

Charles B. Starkey, '44, Waterbury, Coordinator of Supervisory Training, at the Scovill Manufacturing Co., is doing factory counseling, lecturing to service clubs, and working with the Salvation Army Social Service.

George H. Kanouse, '55, Waterbury, an employment interviewer at the Chase Brass and Copper Company, has been counseling employees with alcohol problems and their families and lecturing occasionally.

Hulda Roes Flynn, '56, New Haven, is now Assistant Managing Editor of the Publications Division of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies.

Kathleen Crowley, '43, Waterbury, Supervisor of Domestic Relations for New Haven County, concluded 24 years in probation service when she retired in September 1956. Miss Crowley, the County's first full-time probation officer, is believed to be the only female probation officer in the country who has been dealing with criminals of both sexes of the felon category. Her retirement drew words of praise for her work from judges and other court officials. Five probationers who have returned to a useful life have expressed their gratitude by naming their baby daughters after Miss Crowley. Miss Crowley is a member of the Waterbury Committee of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Raymond W. Brummell, Jr., '55, is the author of the article, “Sociopsychological implications of alcohol education” in the September issue of the Connecticut Review on Alcoholism. Mr. Brummell, formerly educational director of the Commission, is now with the Connecticut Department of Mental Health.

Violet H. Harris, '55, Hamden, Supervisor of Welfare in Hamden for 11 years, resigned her post to attend New Haven State Teachers College and work for a degree.

Raymond G. McCarthy, '43, New Haven, is author of Teen-agers and Alcohol; a Handbook for the Educator. The book is a comprehensive guide for school administrators, curriculum and guidance directors, classroom teachers, church-school educators, and all who are responsible for programs of instruction about alcohol for young people. It is distributed by the Publications Division of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies.

Clayton M. Wallace, '48, is Executive Director of The National Temperance League, Inc., which has 44 state affiliates. Mr. Wallace is also editor of "American Issues.”

Dr. Dora Papara Nicholson, '50, Associate Research Professor at George Washington University, is doing research on congenital problems and diseases as they are related to alcoholism in fetal development.

Cpt. Elizabeth T. Mencher, '54, educational coordinator in the psychiatric service at Walter Reed Army Hospital, is nursing hospitalized alcoholics and arranging classes for staff and students.

The Rev. Paul J. Nevins, OMI, '53, Instructor at Oblate College, has been doing research and writing on the religious elements in the Alcoholics Anonymous movement.

Roger Burgess, '56, was made Associate Director of the Methodist Board of Temperance at their annual meeting in Dallas, in July.

Walter O. Conwell, '56, is now Executive Secretary of the Health Section of United Community Services.

William E. Pickett, '43, formerly editor of The Voice, is now retired and living in Erice, Virginia.

FLORIDA

The Rev. Sidney H. Davis, '44, Jacksonville, is president of the Florida Methodist Board of Temperance, director of the Board for Christian Social Action and a member of the Inter-Collegiate-Alcoholism Studies Groups. Margaret G. Ford, '46, is vice-president of the Daytona Beach Mental Health Association.

The Rev. Lloyd A. Cox, Canon, '50, Orlando, is on the Diocesan Committee on Alcoholism of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Dr. LeRoy Forrister, '51, Avon Park, Clinical Director of the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, supervises all treatment facilities in the state of Florida.

Louelle Tyre Long, '54, Palatka, General Supervisor of Instruction of the Putnam County School Board, is in charge of alcohol instruction in all schools of the county.

Ruth E. Frantz, '55, Orlando, Director of Nursing Service of the Orange County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has been showing films to interested groups.

Mable C. McCollum, '55, Milton, has been giving occasional talks to schools and civic groups.

William L. Wright, '55, Sarasota, is doing education and counseling work with the County Health Department.

Baron Johns, '54, formerly educational director for the Florida State Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, is now an account executive with Frank J. Cowles, Jr., advertising and public relations, of Tampa.

Cpl. W. A. Anderson, Vol. 1, No. 1, 557, Miaml, of the Police Department, is on a committee to plan municipal help for the Skid Row alcoholic.

The Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center at Avon Park was dedicated on February 6, 1957. Ernest A. Shepherd, '44, is administrator of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program for the State of Florida. Features of the dedication program included a statewide A.A. open house on February 7 and a community open house on February 9. The Yulee Reflector, Vol. 1, No. 1, prepared by the Florida State Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, appeared in June 1956. It is an attractive newsletter sent to all the Yulee Alumni in Florida twice a year. Florida is the first state to have a publication for its Yulee Alumni. Ernest A. Shepherd, '44, administrator of the Program, says, "As community leaders who have had the benefit of attendance at the Yulee Summer School, we look forward to your help and cooperative relationship in providing understanding for the alcoholic and in working toward the ultimate prevention of alcoholism in our society."

GEORGIA

Candie C. Adams, '52, Atlanta, is serving as Secretary-Treasurer and consultant of the National Committee on Alcohol Hygiene.

Myra S. Bonner, '52, Milledgeville, is a member of the Georgia Commission on Alcoholism.

Elijah J. Callahan, Jr., '52, Decatur, Chief Investigator of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, is doing rehabilitation work in the state prison system. He is chiefly concerned with matters of parole and readjustment.

Jack D. Smith, '51, Savannah, Chief Social Worker for the Veterans Administration, does volunteer work with the new State Alcoholic Clinic branch.
Valerie Bittaker, '32, Douglas, is Supervisor of Alcohol Education in Coffee County.

Lt. Col. S. Howard, '55, Augusta, Chief of the Provost Marshal Department at the Provost Marshal General's School, is planning to incorporate in the school's program some instruction on dealing with alcohol problems in confinement facilities.

IDAHO

The Rev. William B. Spofford, Jr., '45, Waukeegan, is chairman of the Episcopal Diocesan Christian Social Relations Division on Alcoholism and is working on an Idaho Conference on Alcoholism.

ILLINOIS

The Rev. Herbert H. Parish, '44, Chicago, is the national executive of the Temperance Education, Inc. He supervises seminars on alcohol education in Milwaukee, Wis., and Duluth, Minn., publishes "Perpetual Paragraphs" for use in churches and a quarterly, "Temperance Education News.

The Rev. George W. Berry, '47, Longview, works with the students at Boys Village in Illinois on alcohol problems.

The Rev. Harold W. Reisch, '46, Chicago, is Executive Director of the United Lutheran Social Missionary Society.

The Rev. Elton S. Schriver, '48, Gladwells, is Secretary of the Temperance League of Illinois.

The Rev. Joseph M. Mangan, S.J., '34, Mundelein, Professor of Moral Theology at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, conducts class lectures on "The Nature of the Problems of Alcoholism" and "Pastoral Treatment of Alcoholics" and was moderator of a program conducted for Catholic priests entitled "The Pastoral Problems of Alcoholism."

The Rev. James E. Reitz, '48, was seminar chairman at a meeting sponsored by the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, whose theme was "The Role of the Church in Alcohol Education."

Mr. Reitz is Secretary of the Church of the Brethren; he says that churches, while supporting programs to rehabilitate alcoholics, are seeing ways to step up their activity in the area of prevention through education.

The Rev. Garrett E. Phipps, '33, Champaign, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, and representative of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Temperance League, published in the April issue of the Gospel Messenger his "Reflections on The Yale School of Alcohol Studies." Reprints are available at the School.

The Rev. James G. Jones, '55, Chicago, participated in the 86th Annual Congress of the American Correctional Association. He is the Episcopal Chaplain at Cook County Jail. He is also working at St. Mark's Church in Chicago with a group of Narcotics Anonymous.

INDIANA

Besie Noyes, '45, Terre Haute, Professor of Physiology at Indiana State Teachers College, teaches courses on alcohol and narcotics.

The Rev. C. Emery Smith, '46, Greensburg, a retired Methodist minister, is planning to help set up an interdenominational institute on "What the Church Can Do for A.A.'s and Their Families."

Arthur Miles, '47, Indianapolis, Director of Alcohol Studies for the Indiana Temperance League, presents educational programs in high schools.

Gilbert H. Hunter, '55, Indianapols, is Director of Social Service of the Church Federation of Indiana, which concerns itself with the relation of the church to the broad field of alcohol problems and to the individual problem drinker.

KANSAS

Lewis W. Andrews, '35, Executive Director of the Kansas State Commission on Alcoholism, reports on the first seminar on "The Church and Alcoholism," sponsored by the Christian Social Relations Committee of the Kansas Council of Churches, held in Coffeyville on November 13 and 14. Alumni participating were the Rev. Leonard J. Smoot, '44, Coffeyville, and Mr. Andrews. The objective of the seminar was to determine the extent of the church's responsibility to people who are victims of alcoholism. The seminars were open to all pastors and church leaders who had dealt with the problem of alcoholism.

Conferences were held in Topeka and in Great Bend last September for alumni of the Yale School of Alcohol Studies and the Schools in Utah and Wisconsin. Forty-one persons attended the two meetings. The conferences enabled the students to exchange ideas, share their knowledge and experience, and develop a more effective approach to the problems of alcoholism throughout the state.

The Rev. O. Edgar Wright, '47, Winfield, is Vice-President of the Kansas United Dry Forces and teaches a course on alcoholism at the county jail.

Tom Underwood, '34, Prairie Village, is a member of the State Social Action Committee.

The Ethel Peril Memorial Award of the Kansas Association for Mental Health was given to the Topeka Daily Capital for a series of articles on alcoholism by its staff reporter Robert S. Townsend. Reprints of the series are available on request from the Kansas State Commission on Alcoholism.

KANSAS students of the Yale, Utah and Wisconsin Schools have planned a series of local conferences to be held at Celby, Dodge City, Emporia, Great Bend, Liberal, Ottawa, Pittsburg, Russell and Salina. They plan to work together in promoting public awareness of the problem of alcoholism.

KENTUCKY

The Rev. Darrell C. Richardson, '45, Fort Knox, who is a chaplain in the U.S. Army, went to Germany in May, 1956.

Morrison L. Cook, '46, Louisville, a psychologist at the Kentucky Welfare Department Reception Center, is working with the problems of alcohol and juvenile delinquency.

LOUISIANA

The Rev. W. Earl Hotson, '44, Baton Rouge, is Executive Director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic Foundation, Inc., and directs state-wide activities in alcohol education, rehabilitation and legislation; local option campaigns; and law enforcement and social action against gambling, corrupt politics and causes of juvenile delinquency.

George C. Pore, '48, Ruston, Professor of Psychology at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, is teaching alcohol studies and abnormal psychology.

James A. Long, '49, Mandeville, Fellow in Clinical Psychology at the Louisiana Department of Institutions, is in charge of a small group-therapy project for male alcoholics.

The Rev. W. R. Grigg, '31, Alexandria, has been lecturing occasionally on alcohol problems and counseling alcoholics.

Gerald J. Fisher, '35, Pineville, Clinical Psychologist at the Central Louisiana State Hospital, is doing individual counseling as well as group therapy with alcoholics, and is giving public lectures on alcohol problems.

MAINE

Dr. Gilmore W. Soule, '34, Rockland, has established a group therapy class for alcoholic patients. His class meets once a week and has proven to be of great help to many members of A.A. who previously could not understand the program or maintain their sobriety when depending solely on A.A.

Howard Richardson, '34, Gardiner, is expanding the driver training education program, of which he is director, and is introducing as much factual alcohol education as his course will accommodate.
The Rev. Arson Williams, '56, Bar Mills, was instrumental in forming the York County Committee on Alcohol Education. In October he participated in a workshop on "What About Drinking?" for teen-agers at Alfred.

Sgt. William Hancock, '35, Cape Neddick, participated in a Community Workshop on Alcohol Problems at Kennebunk.

Dr. Rudolph Tomes, '36, Kittery, has been appointed chairman of the Committee on Alcoholic Rehabilitation of the Maine Osteopathic Association.

Max P. Good, '54, Augusta, Director of the Division of Alcoholic Rehabilitation of the State of Maine, and Rowland J. Hastings, '55, Augusta, the Assistant Director, were speakers at the Community Workshop in Kennebunk, the Porton-Parsonfield Health Council Workshop, the Bangor-Brewer Mental Health Conference, the York County Workshop, a clergy institute at Bangor, and a workshop at Saco. They had exhibits, distributed literature and consulted with people attending the meeting of the Maine Osteopathic Association, the Annual Conference of the Maine Hospital Association, and the Annual Conference of the Maine Medical Association. Mr. Good appeared on a radio program in Boston devoted to the Maine alcoholism program. The Division now furnishes drug therapy and psychiatric evaluation in addition to counseling and physical examination.

From July 28 to October 11, Mr. Hastings set up exhibits and distributed literature at eight agricultural fairs and exhibits at Bangor, Presque Isle, Skowhegan, Farmington, Windsor, Norway, Fryeburg and Topsham.

The Rev. Ellis J. Holt, '52, Auburn, is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Division of Alcoholic Rehabilitation of the State of Maine and is on the Executive Committee of the Christian Civic League.

The Rev. Benjamin C. Bubbs, Jr., '53, Waterville, Superintendent of the Christian Civic League of Maine, is doing work with rehabilitation, legislation and education in schools and churches.

Albert G. Dietrich, '55, Orono, as General Secretary of the Bangor Family Service, has been counseling alcoholics and their families. He is Director of the Eastern Maine Committee on Alcoholism and is working on education in alcoholism at the University of Maine.

Doris I. Fitz, '51, Gorham, Chairman of Health and Physical Education at the State Teachers College, spoke to a minister's group and hopes to participate in a community workshop on alcohol problems at Kennebunk in March.

MARYLAND

Dr. Gertrude M. Gross, '44, Sykesville, is Chief of Admissions at Springfield State Hospital. The hospital has more than 1,200 admissions yearly, many of whom are alcoholic.

Howard B. Gill, '47, Ashton, Director of the Institute of Correctional Administration of the College of General Studies at George Washington University, is "presenting Yale School of Alcohol Studies concepts to 100 or more students in correctional administration annually." On June 15 Mr. Gill was the subject of an article by Jane Ends in her nationally syndicated column, "Washington Letter."

Thomas Burnett, '34, Sparks, is Executive Director of Valley House, a treatment center for alcoholics. The project is underwritten by the Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Dr. D. P. Highevers, '47, Annapolis, psychiatrist at the U.S. Naval Academy, teaches midshipmen about alcohol problems and other aspects of mental hygiene.

The Rev. James L. Harley, S.J., '49, Baltimore, Professor of Biology at Loyola College, teaches a graduate course on the social problems of alcoholism.

The Rev. Frank P. Cauble, '32, is serving the Washington County Mental Health Association.

Dr. Lester H. Gildin, '53, Baltimore, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at Johns Hopkins Hospital, is engaged in a research project on the response of alcoholics to group therapy.

Dr. W. Ross Cameron, '34, Hagerstown, a Deputy State Health Officer for the State Department of Health, is supervising the Alcohol Study Clinic.

Joe B. Dellinger, '51, who was Chief of the Section on Alcohol Studies of the Maryland State Department of Health for three and a half years, resigned last year to become Executive Director of the Prisoners Aid Association of Maryland.

Grace K. Vogel, '54, Baltimore, teacher of senior high school science, integrates the information on alcohol problems in her classes, in her work with the school Biology Club and in her club work outside the school.

The Rev. Frederick W. Smith, '43, Baltimore, writes: "I do not think the news has seeped through to you yet that on account of a heart problem I have to give up my work, and on November 1 I will end 33 years of work in the field of the alcohol problem. The most outstanding help that I have ever received has come from the Yale School of Alcohol Studies and I shall always be grateful for the more understanding outlook on the problem that it has given me."

MASSACHUSETTS

Brigadier Richard E. Bagg, '43, Boston, is now the New England Regional Director of the Rehabilitation Program of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in Boston.

Dr. Sarah Parker White, '43, Boston, who has been bedridden for some time, writes, "I have turned over to other doctors the work to which you appointed me. I am delighted to remind you of the continual fine work of Mrs. Elizabeth Whitman, '43." Mrs. Whitman is the Executive Director of the Boston Committee on Alcoholism which had its 7th Annual Conference in February, 1956.

The Rev. Henry H. Wiesbauer, M.S.S., '44, Protestant Chaplain of Westboro State Hospital, is co-author with Lt. Marvin J. Schwartz, M.D., staff psychiatrist, of "People: patients, psychiatrists and persons." The article appeared in Mental Hygiene, October, 1955.

The Rev. Robert Mayhew, '45, Bridgewater, is a member of the Brockton Committee on Alcohol Education and is on the Alcoholism Clinic Committee.

Dr. Oliver S. Lindberg, '46, South Athelboro, of the Fuller Memorial Sanitarium, is a consultant at the city alcoholism clinic in Brockton.

Joseph Kaplan, '47, Boston, is Chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee of the Massachusetts Department of Health and is on the Executive Committee of the Boston Committee on Alcoholism.

Mary W. Dickenson, '48, Boston, is on the board of the Massachusetts Temperance League of the Unitarian Temperance Society. This society has sponsored talks and shown the film "Alcohol and the Human Body" to more than 100,000 high school students.

Richard J. Schmoyer, '48, Lynn, Director of Physical and Health Education in the public schools, gave a series of four lectures to teachers and adults on the problems of alcohol.

Francis S. Holmes, '49, Worcester, Executive Director of the Worcester Committee on Alcoholism, in addition to counseling and working in the industrial and educational fields, is conducting a program for destitute male alcoholics. William Holmes, '36, is director of the facility.

Warren L. Bartler, '52, Dedham, teaches biology classes in Brookline High School about alcohol problems and is encouraging other teachers to do the same by making material available to them.

G. William Dickinson, '53, North Quincy, Director of Social Service of the Boston Committee on Alcoholism, interviews and refers over 100 people monthly. His several speaking engagements since January 1956 have reached 176 social workers in the Boston area.

Dr. James B. Moloney, '53, Boston, writes: "The Division of Alcoholism of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health at the present time is sponsoring nine alcoholism clinics. These are located in the out-patient departments of general hospitals in urban centers throughout the Commonwealth."

The weekly broadcast series, "Alcoholism is Everybody's Business," presented by the Boston Committee on Alcoholism for the past six years over the Yankee Network, equals or better in ratings the programs presented on all of the other network stations in this market. The program attracts more than 54,000 listeners. Elizabeth D. Whitney, '43, is executive director of the Committee.

Sunday, January 6, 1957, the ABC-TV Network presented the program "Alcoholism—the Hidden Illness." It was the story of what is being accomplished in a community, namely, Worcester. Three alumni participated in the program: Francis S. Holmes, '49, Executive Director of the Worcester Committee on Alcoholism, William O. Holmes, '36, supervisor of the Brockside Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, and Frederick E. Cox, '56, employment manager of the Norton Company.

MICHIGAN

Walter S. Holmquist, '45, Flint, head of the Department of Education at Flint Junior College, is a member of the Flint Committee on Alcoholism, Jack K. Rogers, '56, clinical psychologist for the Detroit Committee of Alcoholism does individual psychotherapy, group psychotherapy and projective psychological testing.

Robert S. Atkenhead, 53, Detroit, Executive Secretary of the Mayor's Rehabilitation Committee on Alcoholism, is administering the Rehabilitation Center for Homeless Alcoholics.

George C. Root, 53, clinical psychologist for the Detroit Committee on Alcoholism, is doing psychotherapeutic work in an out-patient clinic.

Clara N. Tingle, 53, Birmingham, attended the National Planning Conference for Alcohol Education and is speaking to various women's groups.

Morris Barrett, 54, Director of the Grand Rapids Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center, has completed a 13-week program, the first complete alcoholism program in Michigan. The program is growing very rapidly and over 400 patients have been treated.

C. B. Fledgeock, '54, Marquette, Professor of Health and Physical Education of Northern Michigan College, is teaching three courses concerning alcohol.

George H. Turner, '54, Jackson, Director of the Alcohol Information Center, is doing work in prevention as well as in rehabilitation and education.

Gerald S. Walters, '54, Grand Rapids, Parole Officer for the Michigan Department of Correction, is assisting parolees for whom alcohol is a problem.

Harry Wolf, '54, Detroit, Executive Director of The Lutheran Charities, is a resource person on problems of alcohol for 20 Lutheran pastors in the Detroit area.

The Rev. Richard R. Anderson, '55, Alma, has been speaking to service clubs, church groups, classes in high schools and A.A. groups.

The Rev. Ivan O. Gossen, '55, Bay City, is lecturing to church and civic groups and planning a course for high school summer camps.

Carol M. Larsen, '55, Marquette, is a nurse at St. Luke's Hospital, which is setting up a unit for alcoholics.

The Rev. Frederick J.Maynard, '55, Saginaw, has given twenty-four talks to clubs, student nurses, graduate nurses, public school students, public health groups and Catholic societies.

George Managhan, '55, Northport, High School Principal, has been lecturing to men's and women's groups on the problems of alcohol.

R. L. Vander Melen, '55, Grand Rapids, high school guidance director, is serving on the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism.

Barth A. J. Willsey, '55, family counselor at the Family Agency of Ypsilanti, has talked to the staffs of family agencies on how the problems of alcohol and the alcoholic relate to the work of a family counseling agency.

Richard Dakesian, '54, Detroit, is now Supervisory Rehabilitation Counselor of the Mayor's Rehabilitation Committee on Skid Row Problems. John Barry, '56, is Senior Rehabilitation counselor and Robert S. Atkenhead, '51, is Executive Secretary of the Committee. In April Mr. Dakesian and Mr. Atkenhead attended the workshop conducted by the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism at St. Mary's Camp, Battle Creek.

Joseph Carkenord, '55, Mount Clemens, was appointed a member of the State Alcohol Education Curriculum Committee. Mr. Carkenord attended the Michigan State Fair, the Curriculum Conference, and the State Health Conference, on behalf of the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism.

Lloyd M. Coler, '56, Detroit, served as a consultant at the board of the State Board of Alcoholism at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit and attended a conference on alcohol education at Michigan State University. He has been appointed as the representative of the Detroit Public Schools on the Sub-committee on Alcohol Education of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and has been accepting speaking engagements for social moorings on the subject of alcoholism.

Albert R. Renwick, '55, West Branch, writes: "Enrolled in a University of Michigan extension course having to do with the high school curriculum. . . . I wanted to see where alcohol education should have a place. My conclusion was—anywhere in the high school curriculum where a teacher was to be found who was capable of imparting such information judiciously." Mr. Renwick has been giving talks on alcoholism in the field of salination.

Kenneth N. Ward, '53, Director, and Hazel L. Bryant, '54, Secretary of the Flint Committee on Alcoholism, wrote of a project of the Committee begun in June. The Hurley Hospital, one of the largest municipal general hospitals in the state, has opened its doors to alcoholics. Group therapy programs are held three mornings each week. Mr. Ward writes: "Needless to say, this type of program is not only an opportunity afforded the alcoholic to learn more concerning his problem, but it also affords one of the most splendid opportunities ever to educate hospital personnel. So far, there have been personnel at these sessions from practically every department of the hospital." The program has been approved by the Genesee County Medical Association.

Mrs. Vivian Walford, '56, North Adams, is assisting her faculty group in a pilot study on alcoholism. She is making speeches to church and school groups and was one of a panel at a conference on alcoholism education in Michigan schools at Michigan State University in October.

Albert H. Boden, '56, Flint, who with the Catholic Social Service Agency, is working with social workers on the staff who handle cases involving alcoholism. One staff meeting was devoted to a report on her experience at Yale. She also works as a volunteer speaker for the Flint Committee on Alcoholism.

Raymond J. Buchko, '55, Marquette, has been promoted from Director of Individual Treatment to the Wardenship of the State House of Correction and Branch Prison.

[continued on page 10—]

The North American Association of Alcoholism Programs

The Seventieth Annual Meeting of the National States' Conference on Alcoholism was held October 7-11 at Toronto, Canada. The Alcoholism Research Foundation of Ontario was host to the meeting at the Royal York Hotel.

On recommendation of the Executive Committee, Chairman Harold W. Demone, Jr., '55, of the Program Committee, arranged a program emphasizing the principal function of the organization, which is to meet the needs of government-sponsored programs. During the first two days of the conference, three separate workshops were held for administrators, board members and educators. During the general sessions of the last two days, various members presented papers analyzing problems of recruitment of personnel, salary and programs for the homeless alcoholics, and problems in recording, evaluation and follow-up of clinic activities. Reports were also received from each of the seminars.

At the business meeting the organization voted to change its name to THE NORTH AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF ALCOHOLISM PROGRAMS. This was done to afford appropriate recognition to members representing alcoholism programs of five Canadian provinces and also to emphasize that the organization is concerned with programs rather than with general alcoholism issues.

A feature of the meeting was a two-day workshop on education, arranged by a joint committee of the National States' Conference and the Association for the Advancement of Instruction About Alcohol and Narcotics. Committee members included Robert R. Robinson, '54, of Ontario, Chairman; Norbert Kelly, North Carolina, and John Pascuiti, '51, of Vermont, President of AAAN.

The following were elected officers of the North American Association of Alcoholism Programs for the coming biennium: Dudley P. Miller, '53, Connecticut, President; H. David Archibald, '48, Ontario, 1st Vice-President; Ralph W. Daniel, '52, Michigan, 2nd Vice-President; Harold W. Demone, Jr., '55, New Hampshire, Secretary-Treasurer. The new officers are all alumni of the Summer School.

The Association opted to accept an invitation to hold the Eighty Annual Conference in Portland, Oregon, during August 1958.

Photographs of twenty alumni who are executive directors of provincial and state programs are featured in this issue on pages 8-9. Photographs of the following four men were not available at going-to-press time: Clyde W. Goederlman, Director, Utah State Board on Alcoholism, Salt Lake City; Bernard Larsen, Executive Director, North Dakota Commission on Alcoholism, Bismarck; Dr. Fred E. Lawrence, Executive Director, Indiana Commission on Alcoholism, Indianapolis; and Dr. Robert E. Thomas, Medical Director, Section on Alcohol Studies, Maryland State Department of Health.

After make-up of these pages of photographs, two changes took place involving four alumni. Lewis W. Andrews, '55, resigned from the Kansas State Commission on Alcoholism to accept an appointment in the U.S. Department of Health; G. C. Congiolo, '56, has been appointed Acting Director in his place. Harold W. Demone, Jr., '55, resigned from the New Hampshire Division on Alcoholism to become Executive Director of the Massachusetts Commission on Alcoholism; Camille Lambert, Jr., '53, has been appointed Acting Director in his place.
LEWIS W. ANDREWS, '35
Kansas State Commission on Alcoholism
Topeka

H. DAVID ARCHIBALD, '38
Executive Director
Alcoholism Research Foundation, Ontario
Toronto, Canada

ALLISON C. BROWN, '36
Executive Director
Arkansas Commission on Alcoholism
Little Rock

JAMES F. A. CALDER, '34
Director, Bureau on Alcoholism
Department of Social Welfare and Rehabilitation
Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada

RALPH W. DANIEL, '33
Executive Director
Michigan State Board of Alcoholism
Lansing

HAROLD W. DEMONE, JR., '33
Executive Director, Division on Alcoholism
New Hampshire State Department of Health
Concord

WILLIAM F. FERGUSON, '34
Consultant on Alcoholism
Minnesota Department of Health
Minneapolis

MAX F. GOOD, '34
Director, Division of Alcoholic Rehabilitation
Department of Health and Welfare
Augusta, Maine

WILLIAM J. HARRIS, JR., '33
Chief, Bureau of Alcoholism Control
New Jersey State Department of Health
Trenton

MRS. FIONA McCAMBRIDGE, '33
Executive Director
Colorado Commission on Alcoholism
Denver
and Provincial Programs

E. D. McRae, '34
Executive Director
The Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia
Vancouver, Canada

Dudley P. Miller, '43
Executive Director
Connecticut Commission on Alcoholism
Hartford

Dr. James B. Moloney, '53
Director, Division of Alcoholism
Massachusetts Department of Public Health
Boston

M. Ross Mounce, '41
Executive Director
The Alcoholism Foundation of Manitoba
Winnipeg, Canada

S. Kinson Proctor, '30
Executive Director
North Carolina Alcoholic Rehabilitation Commission
Raleigh

Mrs. Inez Bach, '47
Information Specialist
Alabama Commission on Education
Montgomery

Ernest A. Shepherd, '44
Administrator
Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program
Avon Park

J. George Strachan, '50
Executive Director
The Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta
Edmonton, Canada

Joseph P. Verdery, '57
Executive Director
Vermont Alcoholic Rehabilitation Commission
Burlington

Harry J. Walters, '56
Chief, Division of Alcoholism
State Department of Hospitals
Baton Rouge, Louisiana
CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Thank you for the hundreds of greetings sent to the various members of the staff at the School and Center. It is impossible to thank each of you personally, but we do want you to know that your cards and letters are deeply appreciated by all of us. We hope that all of you have a wonderful New Year.

MICHIGAN (cont.)

An institute on “Alcoholism and Community Responsibility” was part of the Michigan Welfare Conference, held in Detroit on November 26-28. Alumni participating were Robert H. Scott, ’53, George George, ’55, both of Lansing; Morris Barrett, ’54, Grand Rapids and A. B. Haist, ’46, Saginaw.

Reports of the Alcoholism Education and Clinic Institute sponsored by the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism may be obtained from the Education Office, Box 668, Lansing. The report includes a description of seven alcoholism treatment programs, suggestions for alcohol education, community organization and the use of newspaper communication. Frederick Lenhard, ’53, has been appointed Executive Director of the Michigan Welfare League. The League coordinates the activities of social welfare agencies. Mr. Lenhard was formerly administrative assistant to the Catholic Social Service Agency in Grand Rapids.

A. B. Haist, ’46, Saginaw, writes, “I am chairman of the Alcohol and Narcotics Education Committee of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and as such, have contact with the entire State P.T.A. For the last two years I have been on the Sub-committee on Alcohol Education, which operates under the State Curriculum Revision Committee on Health Education. This fall I was a participant on a panel of the Michigan Education Association regional conference dealing with alcohol education at both the elementary and secondary level. We found considerable interest on the part of teachers in this subject. The Michigan Welfare Conference, which is sponsored by the Michigan Welfare League, has divided its program into several institutes. One of these is designated ‘Alcohol and Community Responsibility.’ My particular assignment is to participate in a symposium on ‘What Lies Ahead-Education.’”

James E. Williams, ’36, sponsor of special alcoholics at State Prison of Southern Michigan, has organized a plan with A.A. groups in Michigan, whereby an inmate of the prison who belongs to A.A. is given a contact with the chairman of a post-release group in the city where the inmate is to be paroled.

MINNESOTA

A new facility for women alcoholics was established in July at White Bear Lake. It is named Dia Inn Farm, which is Gaelic for “God Be With Us.” The Farm is supported by the Hazelden Foundation, whose president is Patrick Butler, ’51, St. Paul. An article on Hazelden, the facility for men at Center City, appeared in “The Oliver Towne Column” of the St. Paul Dispatch July 11, 1950. Mr. Towne told of his visit to Hazelden and of some of the 1,700 alcoholics who have been rehabilitated since 1948.

The Rev. Dr. Forrest L. Richeson, ’43, Minneapolis, leader of the ministers senator at the 1956 Yale Summer School of Alcohol Studies, is a member of the executive board of the Upper Midwest Foundation on Problem Drinking. He spoke at the 1956 Conference on Alcoholism at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Richeson, Bernard Troje, ’50, St. Paul; The Rev. Francis Curran, ’53, St. Paul; William Ferguson, ’54, Minneapolis and Patrick Butler, ’51, St. Paul, are members of the Minnesota Interim Commission on Alcoholism. As chairman, Dr. Richeson will make a report with recommendations for the Governor and legislature.

The Rev. Clifford M. Witschuck, ’47, Lakefield, is chairman of the Board of Temperance of the Minnesota Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. D. M. Sterling, ’51, Sandstone, is working on the alcohol treatment program in Sandstone State Hospital and is a staff lecturer on “Religion in A.A.”

Charles L. Raftery, ’53, St. Paul, serves on the Industrial Committee on Alcoholism and is a member of the St. Paul Board of Education.

Fred W. Eiden, ’55, is counselor on alcoholism at the Willmar State Hospital.

Major C. C. Briggs, ’46, formerly director of the Salvation Army Men’s Social Service Center in Minneapolis, has been transferred to a similar facility in Chicago.

Lucille J. Paer, ’52, is Chief Psychiatric Social Worker at the Anoka State Hospital.

Daniel J. Anderson, ’54, formerly psychologist at the Willmar State Hospital, is working toward his doctorate at the University of Ottawa.

A conference on health in industry conducted by the University of Minnesota in cooperation with the Minnesota Department of Health and Minnesota Association of Mental Health took place on October 18-19.

William Ferguson, ’54 and Patrick Butler, ’51, were chairman of the sessions on alcoholism in industry.

MISSISSIPPI

William Hardison, ’44, Hattiesburg, is chairman of the Baptist Temperance Committee, and lectures at Mississippi Southern College on Alcohol and the Law.

Leila D. Clark, ’44, is a member of the executive board of the Jackson Committee on Alcoholism, the alcohol education committee of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

Ruth T. Breen, ’46, is Secretary of the Jackson Committee on Alcoholism Information Center.

Ethel Cain, ’47, Cleveland, is head of the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Delta State College. Miss Cain gives a course in alcohol studies for credit twice a year.

Mildred Spahr, ’49, Columbus, Associate Professor at the State College for Women, teaches courses on alcohol education as part of the regular health program.

J. N. Triplett, ’50, Blue Mountain, is a member of the Temperance Committee of the Mississippi Baptist Convention, and a member of the Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education.

The Rev. C. M. Tay, ’54, Jackson, is a member of the Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education, is teaching, lecturing and writing.

The Rev. James S. Conner, ’51, Jackson, Executive Secretary of the Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education, is working on an educational program for the churches, communities, public schools and colleges of Mississippi.

Hubert Gilmore, ’53, Jackson, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Jackson Committee on Alcoholism; Chairman of the Recruitment Committee for Yale Summer School of Alcohol Studies; a member of the Information Center Committee of the Jackson Committee on Alcoholism; a member of the Mississippi Church Council on Alcohol Education; and a member of the Committee on Youth Work of the Mississippi Church Council on Alcohol Education.

Graduate courses in Alcohol Studies were held at Mississippi Southern College in Hattiesburg, Millsaps College in Jackson and Delta State College in Cleveland. James F. Walker, ’46, Ethel Cain, ’51, and Vashon Ike Cain, ’46, participated.

Edith Carr Jones, ’51, Jackson, Clinical Admissions Officer at the University Hospital in Jackson, is serving on the Jackson Committee on Alcoholism.

MISSOURI

Major E. A. Moyer, ’48, St. Louis, of the Men’s Social Service Center of the Salvation Army, writes, “Alcoholism is the major problem dealt with in the Center. I use A.A. and Yale material regularly.”

Mary B. Roberts, ’46, Kansas City, public welfare specialist with the U.S. Public Health Service, addressed the nurses and nurses aides of Ralph Sanatorium on November 20 on the work done at the Yale School.

MONTANA

Walter Custer, ’49, is Chairman of the Missoula Citizens Committee on Alcoholism, which operates an information center and promotes public education on the problems of alcohol.
NEBRASKA

Dr. Winona M. Perry, '44, formerly Professor of Educational Psychology and Measurements at the University of Nebraska, retired in June 1956. Her address is: Dr. Philip Ivo, R.F.D. No. 1, Ashland, Nea.

Dr. Perry is author of an instructors manual used in the units in alcohol education at the University.

Mrs. Mary Weir, '47, has been Secretary of the Intergroup in Omaha for eight years.

The Rev. Dr. John F. Norman, '48, Lincoln, was Executive Director of the Temperance League of Nebraska, directs the education of college and high school students.

The Very Rev. Arthur C. Barnhart, '47, Omaha, formerly Dean of Trinity Cathedral of the Protestant Episcopal Church, is now with the Philadelphia Protestant Episcopal City Mission.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

The Rev. David A. Works, '31, North Conway, is Chairman of the Committee on Alcoholism among American Indians of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior.

"What Can The Church Teach Young People About Drinking" was the theme of the second annual North Conway Institute which met June 18-22. The theme of the conference was "What Can The Church Teach Young People About Drinking" was the theme of the second annual North Conway Institute which met June 18-22. Alumni taking part in the conference were Harold W. Demone, Jr., '55; The Rev. John C. Ford, S.J., '48, and The Rev. David A. Works, '31.

The Division on Alcoholism of the New Hampshire State Department of Health sponsored a meeting on "Industry and Alcoholism" in Laconia on May 22. Dr. Selden D. Bacon was the featured speaker and Harold W. Demone, Jr., '31, Director of the State Division on Alcoholism, was in charge of the meeting.

A course on alcohol education for school teachers, sponsored by Keene Teachers College and the New Hampshire Division on Alcoholism, was given in Concord in July. Instructors were Harold W. Demone, Jr., '31, and Arthur Giovannangeli, '36.

The sixth annual North Conway seminar met at Eastern Slope Inn September 18 and 19. The theme was "The Governor's Conference on Drinking Drivers. (What can the churches do about it?)" Dr. Leon A. Greenberg participated in the conference. Alumni having a place on the program were Harold W. Demone, Jr., '31, Executive Director of the New Hampshire Division on Alcoholism; Edward Sands, '53, New York City, of Licensed Beverage Industries; and the Rev. David A. Works, '31, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, North Conway. About 60 people were registered for the seminar.

A public discussion of "Industry and Alcoholism" was held in Manchester in June. Professor Selden D. Bacon was the main speaker. An earlier discussion was held in Nashua. Harold W. Demone, Jr., '31, Director of the Division on Alcoholism participated in both programs.

NEW JERSEY

H. Theodore Stubbs, '47, Plainfield, now retired from teaching, does writing, speaking and radio work on alcoholism. He is chairman of the Society of Friends (Quaker) Alcohol and Social Concerns Committee, and is a trustee of the New Jersey Temperance League.

Lenore B. Rubinow, '33, Newark, in her capacity as State Consultant on Medical Social Rehabilitation, is working with the State Program of Alcoholism Control.

Dorothy Ruef, '31, Jersey City, head of the Department of Health Education at New Jersey State Teachers College, is developing units on alcohol in a social hygiene course.

Ann Callaghan, '34, Camden, who is with the study clinic at West Jersey Hospital, is doing social work in the out-patient facility for treatment of alcoholism.

The Rev. John St. DeBois, '34, Spotswood, a member of the Episcopal Province Board of Christian Social Relations, is encouraging greater education of clergy on the problem of alcoholism.

John M. Butler, '35, Newark, is a case worker at St. Michael's Hospital in a study clinic which serves those who have problems with alcohol.

Adriane V. Duffy, '53, Parsippany, District Consultant to the Medical Social Rehabilitation Services, is promoting development of out-patient alcoholic clinics in hospitals.

Blanche E. O. Graham, '35, Trenton, Associate Professor of Alcohol Education at the New Jersey State Teachers College, is teaching a unit concerned with alcohol.

Mrs. Theresa Rohan, '48, Paterson, is Director of the Mount Carmel Guild Social Service Center, a facility for homeless alcoholic men.

The first state-wide alcohol education conference for teachers was held at Rutgers University May 19. Raymond G. McCarty, '33, was the principal speaker. New Jersey alumni participating in the conference were William J. Harris, '33, Co-ordinator of the State Program on Alcoholism Control; Lawrence Ashkens, '36; Ann Callaghan, '54; David deBeau-champ, '56; Irina Raksony, '54; Dorothy Ruef, '31; and Henry T. Tesch, '22.

Ariel Landy, '36, a counselor with the N.J. Rehabilitation Commission, is working in a pilot project to assist the State Department of Health and the State Department of Institutions and Agencies with the rehabilitation of alcoholics. The services of the Commission include vocational counseling, vocational testing, vocational training, on the job training, and assistance with job placement. Mr. Landy makes weekly visits to the outpatient clinic at McKinley Hospital in Trenton and to the in-patient unit at the N.J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Princeton in order to make these services available to both the state programs.

NEW MEXICO

The Rev. Lawrence Menefee, '46, of Estancia, is District Secretary of the Methodist Conference Board of Temperance of the New Mexico Conference.

NEW YORK

Floyd C. Carrier, '43, Albany, is Executive Director of the New York Temperance Civic League, Inc. He conducts alcohol education classes in high schools and colleges, with six classes each school day.

The Rev. Harold C. Lets, '43, New York City, is Secretary for Social Action of the Board of Social Missions of the United Lutheran Church and is Chairman of the Department of Social Welfare at the National Council of Churches, which includes the Committee on Problems of Alcohol.

Barbara Phillips, '44, New York City, a social worker at the House of Detention, Staten Island, works with women prisoners who have alcohol problems.

Elise R. Nagy, '45, Elmhurst, is Director of Psychiatric Social Service, and an instructor at the Kings County Medical Center. She also acts as consultant at the University of New York Alcohol Clinic Research Center.

The Rev. Howard C. Schade, '43, New York City, has been a panel [continued on page 12—

New Education Materials

During recent months a series of illustrated leaflets called Exploring Alcohol Questions, designed for grades 8-12, was prepared by Raymond G. McCarty. They were distributed without charge to people requesting copies. An initial printing of 10,000 leaflets was exhausted within a month and a second printing of 5,000 was necessary to meet the requests. However, copies are no longer available for free distribution but may be secured by purchase from the Publications Division of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies. The price per single copy (consisting of the set of six 4-page leaflets in a folder) is fifty cents, with liberal reductions for quantity orders.

A new teaching film on drinking and driving is in production and will be released about March 15, 1958. This will be a color reel and black and white narrative illustrating some of the effects of alcohol upon reduction of reflexes in laboratory animals. There are, in addition, short sequences of a driver-training device developed by the Acta Insurance Company and used in driver education courses in a number of schools. The film will be released by Young America Films, Inc., of New York.

In preparation is a collection of readings about alcohol and alcohol problems. Although there is an extensive literature in this field, with the exception of the book Alcohol, Science and Society (which was first published in 1943) it is impossible for a student to find in compact form a survey of historical and contemporary developments in alcohol problems. A series of leaflets designed for adult use is also in preparation and will be ready for distribution in July 1958.
Clinebell Authors New Work on Counseling

The Rev. Dr. Howard J. Clinebell, Jr., '49, is the author of a new book, Understanding and Counseling the Alcoholic Through Religion and Psychiatry, recently published by the Abingdon Press. Professor Selden D. Bacon has described this work as "without question the best book on this phase of alcoholism yet to appear and one of the best books on alcoholism in general which has been published in a decade."

Doctor Clinebell, who attended the 1949 session of the Yale Summer School of Alcohol Studies in Fort Worth, Texas, is minister of the Great Neck, New York, Methodist Church and a member of the Department of Neuropsychiatry at the Buffalo V.A. Hospital, is a member of the Erie County Medical Society Committee on Alcohol Studies.

William J. Fowler, '53, New York City, Supervisor of the Church's Institute, is engaged in rehabilitation work with alcoholic merchant seamen.

The Rev. Raymond J. H. Kennedy, S.J., '53, Syracuse, Director of Adult Education at Le Moyne College, is a member of the New York State Committee on the Chronic Alcoholic, a member of the Institute of the Homeless Alcoholic of the N.C.A., and a Director of the Oonondaga Committee on Alcoholism.

Sr. Maj. A. E. Agnew, '34, New York City, Supervisor of Casework Services in the Men's Social Service Department of the Salvation Army, has contact with programs for alcoholics in Men's Social Service Centers throughout the Northeastern United States.

Ethel B. Bicknell, '34, is a member of the Episcopal Diocesan Committee on Alcohol and is Supervisor of Social Work at the Central Islip State Hospital. She works with members of Alcoholics Anonymous on problems of the patients, gives talks and helps with A.A. meetings in the hospital.

The Rev. Ellwood Hamann, '34, Endicott, organized a conference for 25 clergymen on alcohol and alcoholism.

Sid R. Zorman, '55, Summerton, Chief Clinical Psychologist of the V.A. (TJ) Hospital, is doing staff liaison work with the hospital A.A. group and is consultant to the staff on problem drinkers in the facility.

Bernard J. Clifford, '33, Brooklyn, psychiatric social worker, is a participant in a multidisciplinary approach to certain research problems in alcoholism set up by the faculty of the State University of New York.

The New York State Council of Committees on Alcoholism met with the New York State Welfare Conference, Inc. in New York City December 13. Robert Straus, formerly of the staff of the Yale Center on Alcoholism and a lecturer at the School, presided as President of the Council. Alumni speakers were C. William Cloutier, '33, of the Boston Committee on Alcoholism, and Margaret C. Briez, '53, of the Alcoholic Information Committee in New York City. Mr. Cloutier spoke on "The Community, the Social Agency and the Alcoholic." Miss Briez's topic was "Counseling the Alcoholic Patient." Professor Straus has been appointed Associate Professor of the College of Medicine at the University of Kentucky. He went to Lexington the first of November.

Effective February 1, 1957 the new name of the National Committee on Alcoholism is the National Council on Alcoholism. Alumni who are staff members are: Marty Mann, '46, Executive Director; R. Brinkley Smithers, '56, Treasurer; Elois Jensen, '56, Public Relations Director. Yvelin Gardner, '48, Associate Director, and William J. Plunkett, '56, Associate Director. Patrick Bude, '51, and John M. Murtagh, '53, are on the Board of Directors. Joseph Kaplan, '47, is Chairman of the Advisory Board and D. Franklin Houston, '47, is a member.

Professor Selden D. Bacon and R. M. Henderson, '47, were the featured speakers at a meeting sponsored by the Medical Division of Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc. in New York City on December 6.

NORTH CAROLINA

Charles L. Auman, '51, a psychiatric social worker, is admitting officer of Butner Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center.

The Rev. Harold D. Hayward, '51, is Vice-President of the Charlotte Mental Health Society.

Dr. John A. Ewing, '52, Chapel Hill, is Instructor of Psychiatry at the University of North Carolina. He also acts as coordinator of treatment services for alcoholism.

Edward W. Hargrave, '52, Fayetteville, is a school psychologist. Mr. Hargrave was a lecturer at A. & T. Summer School of Alcohol Studies and Coordinator of the Summer School of Alcohol Studies at Fayetteville State Teachers College during the summer of 1955.

The Rev. W. S. McLeod, '54, High Point, is engaged in directing conferences and district workshops on alcohol, and is also counseling alcoholics and teaching young people and adults.

Laura Belle McMullen, '54, Charlotte, a public health educator with the Charlotte Health Department, is working with community groups, individuals and schools on alcohol education.

Ethel M. Lewis, '55, New Bern, Supervisor of Country Schools, is held...
ing family clinics in eight school districts and showing films. Miss Lewis says "the parents are asking for more time and more lectures."

NORTH DAKOTA

Charles A. Hoffman, '47, Minot, is head of the Division of Science at the State Teachers College, where he teaches classes in alcohol education in his physiology course.

Bernard Larson, '51, Bismarck, Executive Director of the North Dakota Commission on Alcoholism, was in charge of the First Annual Conference on Alcoholism held in Grand Forks. Raymond G. McCarthy, '43, addressed the Conference and was in charge of the education seminar. The Rev. C. C. Putnum, '55, Lakota, took part in the clergy seminar. Mr. Putnum was ordained in April to the Sacred Order of Deacons of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Lee Phillips, '33, Minot, and Miss Ida Skaubom, '55, were married September 14 at Jamestown, North Dakota, by the Rev. Clarence C. Putnam, '55. Both Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are working with alcoholic patients at the State Hospital in Jamestown.

A conference on alcoholism was held at the State Teachers College at Minot on November 26 and 27. Alumni on the staff were Bernard Larsen, the Rev. C. C. Putnum and Charles A. Hoffman.

OHIO

The Rev. Lawrence E. Rothrock, '44, Berea, is author of "Cleveland Attacks Alcoholism," a story of the Cleveland Health Museum and its extensive exhibit on alcoholism, which appeared in The Voice in September 1955. Mr. Rothrock is Chairman of the Methodist Temperance Committee, a member of the Board of Temperance and a trustee of the Temperance League of Ohio.

Howard E. Hamlin, '43, Columbus, formerly Supervisor of Health and Narcotics Education for Ohio, retired on July 1, 1955.

The Rev. Lewis C. Berger, '44, Columbus, State Superintendent of the Methodist Temperance League of Ohio, directs a statewide program of temperance activities.

The Rev. Paul E. Entfeld, '44, Cincinnati, is President of the Board of Temperance Officers of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. R. F. Stonebrunner, '44, Dayton, is Executive Director of the Lutheran Inner Mission League of the American Lutheran Church. He has delivered many lectures and written articles on alcoholism for church publications during the past year.

The Rev. Joseph J. Henninger, '50, Cleveland, is Director of the Sociology Department of John Carroll University, where he teaches classes on alcohol education.

Galen F. Aichauer, '51, a referee and supervisor of the Dayton Court of Domestic Relations, screens alcoholics for voluntary admittance to the State Hospital. He also counsels alcoholics and their families.

Capt. Edward V. Dimond, '50, Cleveland, of the Salvation Army, is Director of the Cleveland Harbor Light Corps.

Angelo J. Gagliardo, '52, Cleveland, is Chief Probation Officer of the Cleveland Municipal Court. Mr. Gagliardo counsels many individuals with alcohol problems.

The Rev. Hillman R. Wichern, '55, Urbana, is serving on the Episcopal Diocesan Committee on Alcoholism.

Myron T. Moses, '52, Cleveland, Chief of the Child Support Department of the Juvenile Court of Cuyahoga County, is a member of the committee of the Cleveland Center on Alcoholism.

Mildred Harris Weiss, '52, is now clinical psychologist at the Cleveland Center on Alcoholism.

J. Arthur Hinchliffe, '52, Director of the Alcoholism Information and Consultation Center of the Cincinnati Health Department, is on the editorial committee of the Cincinnati Bulletin on Alcoholism.

Dr. John D. Morley, '36, formerly medical director of the Division of Alcoholism Control in Grand Rapids, Mich., is now Health Officer in Akron, Ohio.

Charles Wheeler, '53, Columbus, has become Research Editor of the Legislative Service Commission of the State of Ohio.

OREGON

W. Kenneth Ferrier, '43, Portland, participated in the Saskatoon School Program, 1-20, where he lectured and directed the education seminar. He also gave two lectures on "The Medical and Psychological Aspects of Alcoholism" at the third annual Social Welfare Institute, which met in San Diego on August 22-24. The Institute was sponsored by the California Conference of Social Work, the National Association of Social Workers, the San Diego social workers organization, the San Diego Social Workers' Club and the San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association. George De La Motte, '43, was commentator for the film "Alcoholism." There were approximately 350 in attendance at the Institute, to establish an Alcoholism Clinic in San Diego, was achieved. Professor Ferrier was on the staff of the Montana Schools of Alcohol Studies, held at Missoula and Billings on June 18-22. Other alumni on the staff were Clarence Duich, '54, Jordan, Minn., and Dr. Paul H. Stevenson, '50, Bethesda, Md. Professor Ferrier lectured at each school and directed the education workshop. He was chairman of a conference on alcohol education at the University of Oregon on June 25-29. He has written a new handbook for teachers, "A Guide to Alcoholism Education in Oregon Schools." Several county institutes were also held which devoted their entire sessions to discussing the new handbook. Other alumni participating were Gordon Rance, '45, and Mrs. Sara K. Gabriel, '45.

Gordon Rance, '35, Assistant Director of the Oregon Alcohol Education Committee, directs a weekly educational program and counsel patients in the Rehabilitation Clinic. Dr. Rance has encouraged many schools in Oregon where he has shown films, supplied reference material, distributed pamphlets and assisted teachers in presenting units on alcohol education. He also participated in panels discussing treatment programs for alcoholics at a meeting of the Oregon Association of Clinical Psychologists and the annual meeting of the Oregon Congress of the P.T.A.

Edus Frazier, '43, Portland, Executive Director of the Oregon Temperance League, has a weekly radio program and lectures throughout the state and nation.

Claire A. Argow, '47, Portland, is Executive Director of the Oregon Prison Association. Mrs. Argow is active in establishing A.A. groups in correctional institutions and helping inmates make contact on release.

The Rev. Dr. Myron C. Cole, '47, formerly pastor of the First Christian Church, Portland, left September 15 to be pastor of the Central Christian Church, Indianapolis. Dr. Cole was a member of the Oregon Alcohol Education Committee. Before leaving Portland, Dr. Cole was guest of honor of the Commission for Intergroup Relations and was presented with a tie clasp, inscribed in Hebrew, for his outstanding work in Portland.

PENNSYLVANIA

The Rev. Dr. Earl F. Zeigler, '45, Philadelphia, is President of the Pennsylvania Temperance League, Chairman of the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies and on the faculty of the 1936 National Temperance League School in Louisville, Kentucky.

Marian J. Wettrick, '47, Coudersport, is community organization representative of the Pennsylvania Division of Alcohol Studies and Rehabilitation.

The Rev. J. Eldon Matlock, '45, Mill Hall, is a trustee of the Pennsylvania Temperance League.

The Rev. Clarence H. Moatz, '45, Allentown, is Chairman of the Allentown Hospital Alcoholism Clinic Committee.

The Rev. E. C. Patterson, '45, Brackenridge, is an associate member of the National Clergy Conference on Alcoholism.

The Rev. Kermit Lawton, '48, Harrisburg, Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, is directing alcohol education and rehabilitation among 3 million Protestants. He also supervises Protestant chaplains in 44 state institutions.

The Rev. Edwin E. Steward, '48, Narberth, field counselor for Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware for the American Baptist Convention, is working with churches on problems of alcoholism.

Honor L. Barbara, '54, Sharon, is Executive Director of the Shenango Valley Committee on Alcoholism. He is counselor and consultant on alcoholism to staff nurses and patients at Warren State Hospital and Woodside Hospital.

Helen Snyder, '52, is Executive Secretary of the newly organized Philadelphia Committee on Alcoholism. Yelvild Gerber, '48, of the National Council on Alcoholism, spoke to the Committee in February, 1956.

The Rev. Donald W. Carruthers, '51, State College, participated in two youth conferences on alcohol education and helped with the revision of the section on alcohol problems in a physical education textbook.

George H. Gibb, '43, is Administrative Assistant at the Bucks County Health Department and is a member of the Montgomery County Alcoholism Committee.

Edgar T. McGowan, '54, Philadelphia, Commanding Officer of the Vine Street Corps of the Salvation Army, is working with rehabilitating skid row alcoholics.

The Rev. Jerry E. Carpenter, '50, Center Square, is serving as Chairman of the Alcoholism Committee of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania, and temporary Chairman of the Montgomery County Committee on Alcoholism.

Eleanor E. Schuer, '54, is Executive Secretary of the Bethlehem Committee on Alcoholism.

The Rev. Paul E. Whitmoyer, '48, is a representative of the Division of Alcoholics Studies and Rehabilitation of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health.

Ruth M. Madeira, '55, Reading, Staff Supervisor of the Visiting Nurse Association, participated in a panel sponsored by the Council of Social Agencies. She has lectured to student nurses and young people.

Dorothy M. Smith, '53, educational assistant with the Pittsburgh Committee on Alcoholism, writes that the agency is under study and that she is endeavoring to carry on the work of the Center in a sort of holding operation.

The Rev. Frederick G. Lawrence, '50, Clarks Summit, writes: "I attended the Board Meeting of the National Clergy Conference on Alcoholism, along with Father John C. Ford, S.J., '48, in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 11th and 12th. September 30th we spoke on "God As We Understand Him" to the A.A. Delegates assembled for the Eastern Pennsylvania General Service Conference in Reading, Pa. It has been our pleasure to lecture on alcoholism to the seminarians at Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, Mo., and the Father Judge Mission Seminary, Brackenry, Pa. recently. We continue our frequent visits, in the capacity of unofficial chaplains, to the Pennsylvania State Rehabilitation Center for Alcoholics located at the state hospital here in Clarks Summit. Miss Catherine T. Kubasko, '55, is the Supervisor of Nurses there."
WASHINGTON

The Rev. Edwin Brecher, '48, Seattle, Executive Director of the Lutheran Temperance Mission, is a member of the Seattle Committee on Alcoholism. Herbert H. Hill, '48, Seattle, Executive Director of the Washington Temperance Association, directs alcohol education services to the schools of the state. He serves on the Seattle Committee on Alcoholism and provides consultation services on alcoholism to industry.

Milton A. Maxwell, '50, Pullman, writes that he teaches a course on alcoholism and that he has a $10,000 two-year grant for a research project on "Life stress factors in alcoholics," based on diagnostic interview records in the Shadle Sanitarium. Charles A. Shadel was in the 1944 Class.

The Rev. James T. Golder, '56, has been made Chairman of the Episcopal Diocesan Committee on Alcoholism. The program commenced this fall at a meeting of 90 clergymen in Seattle. Mr. Golder conducts sessions with medical students at the University of Washington on the problem of alcohol. He writes: "At present our Diocesan Committee on Alcoholism is setting up four one-day institutes. An entire day is set aside for clergy of the smaller areas for the study and discussion of special aspects of the problems as they relate to the clergy. Then at night there will be a panel-type presentation at a big open meeting for all in the parish and their friends." The institutes were held in Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, and Sunnyside during October and November.

The Rev. George C. Pratt, '53, and the Rev. Malcolm S. Lattimore, '55, are also members of the Diocesan Committee.

WEST VIRGINIA

Professor Wayne T. Gray, '44, Fairmont, head of the Department of Sociology at Fairmont State College, conducts classes on the problems of alcoholism and lectures on alcoholism.

Nan Temple Davis, '54, Huntington, is teaching a unit on alcoholism and narcotics in high school.

The work with alcoholics of the Rev. Jerome D. Rodgers, '56, of Christ Episcopal Church, Point Pleasant, was described in an article, "His Brother's Keeper," in the Episcopal Church News of the Episcopal Church of the West Virginia.

WISCONSIN

Maj. Anita Robb, '46, Milwaukee, is Secretary of the Divisional League of Mercy of the Salvation Army.

Beate M. Brahm, '51, Madison, is Assistant Director of Nursing Education at Mendota State Hospital, where she conducts courses for student nurses on problems of alcohol.

The Management Center and School of Medicine at Marquette University presented the All-Wisconsin Industry and Community Conference on Problem Drinking on March 1 in Milwaukee. One of the conference directors was Mark Klip, '51. Other speakers who are alumni of the School were the Rev. Raymond J. H. Kennedy, S.J., '53, and Warren Tangen, '46.

Professor John L. Miller, '51, Madison, is the Director of the Conference on Alcohol Studies at the University of Wisconsin.

VERMONT

James A. Keech, '48, Castleton, is Associate Professor of Biology and Alcohol Education at St. Johnsbury College. His course is required for all graduates. During the summer a workshop is offered to in-service teachers.

Joseph P. Vanderly, '51, Burlington, Executive Director of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Commission, writes that the Commission plans to hold its fourth annual Clergy Seminar in April. Speakers will be the Rev. John C. Ford, '48, and the Rev. Howard J. Clinebell, Jr., '49. In addition to the main office in Burlington, the Commission has three district offices located in St. Johnsbury, Rutland and Springfield. In addition to the district offices, visits are made once a week to Barre, Newport, Brattleboro, White River Junction, Bennington, Middlebury, St. Albans and Montpelier. Bibliographies of literature on alcoholism are being prepared for all doctors and clergymen in the state. A telephone information service on facts about alcoholism has been started in the Burlington area. This service is similar to that given for weather reports and time signals. Information can be obtained by dialing a number and listening to a record.

VIRGINIA

The Rev. John C. Pomeroy, '55, Gordonsville, is Chairman of the Committee on Alcoholism of the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia. The newly activated committee is devising plans for informing the diocesan clergy, instructing various interested groups by the permissive method, and preparing age-group bibliographies of alcohol resource material.

The Rev. Wayne W. Warner, '43, who has been Executive Secretary of the Virginia Church Temperance Council, Inc., for 10 years, was guest of honor at a tenth anniversary luncheon given by the Virginia Council. He received a letter of appreciation and a check. The National Temperance League in Washington presented him with an engraved leather-bound book in recognition of his 25 years of service with the temperance move-
News from Canada

ALBERTA

The Rev. Roger G. Thompson, '47, Edmonton, is Secretary of the Alberta Temperance Forces.

Everett C. Baldwin, '51, Calgary, is Dean and Secretary of the Alberta-Saskatchewan-Manitoba School of Narcotic Education.

A Medical and Industrial Forum on Alcohol Studies was held at the Banff School of Fine Arts on April 2-5. Dr. Selden D. Bacon lectured and had a seminar group. Alumni participating were George Strachan, '35, Edmonton; Dr. David M. Ball, '35, Edmonton; Ralph M. Henderson, '47, New Haven, Conn.; Robert R. Robinson, '54, Toronto; and Warren Tangen, '46, Minneapolis, Minn.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

E. D. McRae, '54, Director of the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, reports that at the request of the Vancouver City Police the staff of the Foundation is giving a series of lectures for the new recruits of the police force now in training. The lectures are designed to familiarize the officers with the problem of the alcoholic and to assist him in the course of his duties. Mr. McRae writes: "Your school has become synonymous with all our modern concepts of man's use of abuse of alcohol and in looked upon as a centre of intellectual freedom in this highly controversial field. It is our hope that in the years to come, we may be able to send further staff members to the school and that many others not connected with the Foundation may attend."

James G. P. Audain, '35, Victoria, Provincial Civil Defense Instructor, is a member of the Board of the Alcoholism Foundation of Vancouver Island.

MANITOBA

Robert N. Hallstead, '54, Winnipeg, Associate Professor of English at United College, is speaking extensively on the Report of the Manitoba Liquor Enquiry Commission and is a member of the committee to establish a rehabilitation center in Winnipeg under church sponsorship.

Leonard A. Floyd, '31, Killarney, Inspector of Schools, is supervising the teaching of alcohol education in his schools and lecturing to teachers.

M. Ross Mounce, '53, is executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of Manitoba. Mrs. Isobel M. Goodall, '36, is Counselor of the Foundation.

Barry McConradale, '52, Winnipeg, a TV producer with the Canadian Broadcasting System, is cooperating with M. Mounce in presenting half-hour TV programs on the subject of alcoholism. These are the first programs dealing with the subject to be presented in Manitoba.

NOVA SCOTIA

Donald R. Gilchrist, '54, Pictou, Director of Temperance Education, is assisting and directing teachers regarding alcohol education in the schools, and giving information and help to Parent-Teacher Associations and Service Clubs.

ONTARIO

Royal L. Moulton, '46, Toronto, Executive Secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, conducts "Alcohol Education Work" in many communities across the province. Mr. Moulton addresses service clubs, schools and churches on alcohol education.

George M. Hay, '30, is psychologist and caseworker of the Brampton Family Agency, establishing casework relationships in situations where alcohol problems are factors.

Prof. N. R. Speirs, '30, Director of Physical Education of the Board of Education of Toronto, has been revising his school health text, Good Health. Approximately 20 pages of the book are devoted to alcohol education.

John J. Bergen, '51, is Principal of Tennial Collegiate Institute, where he teaches alcohol studies in the school curriculum.

M. Marlene Smith, '41, Port Credit, a public health nurse, has been lecturing to parent and high school groups.

D. E. Farwell, '34, Willowdale, a Master at the Teachers College, is instructing student teachers on problems associated with alcohol.

William J. Wacko, '36, Executive Secretary of the Ottawa Branch of the Alcoholism Research Foundation, conducted a workshop on alcoholism, "The Ottawa Community Looks at its Alcohol Problem," on November 2 at Ottawa Teachers College. Alumni participating in the workshop were H. David Archibald, '48, and Margaret Cork, '53, both of Toronto, and Dr. W. W. McKay of Ottawa, who attended the Alcoholism and Industry Conference at the Yale School in 1954. The Foundation is currently the subject of a feature article in the Ottawa Citizen.

H. David Archibald, '48, Toronto, Executive Director of the Alcoholism Research Foundation, spent six weeks in Europe in the late summer and fall. He visited alcoholism treatment centers in England, France, Italy, Switzerland and the Scandinavian Countries and attended the International Congress Against Alcoholism in Istanbul.

QUEBEC

The Rev. Thomas D. F. Everett, '47, Sherbrooke, conducts an institute on alcohol information for the Quebec Temperance League and works with local A.A. groups. Mr. Everett writes, "The Yale experience is very useful to me in my work."

SASKATCHEWAN

What Saskatchewan Has Been Doing About Alcoholics," a study based on answers to a questionnaire sent out by the Bureau on Alcoholism, was issued late in 1956. J. F. A. Calder, '34, is director of the Bureau.

News from Abroad

FRANCE

Dr. Pierre A. Bensoussan, '35, is doing clinical and research work in the Hospital Henri Roussel, Paris, and is working on the formation of a French A.A. group as well as promoting a government program.

NICARAGUA

Dr. Reynaldo Ponce de Avalos, '53, is medical director of Clinica Hospital Antialcoholica. Through radio programs, newspaper articles and addresses in clubs and schools, he is taking the work of the clinic directly to the people of Nicaragua.

PAKISTAN

Dwight C. Monier, '30, Chief Health Education Advisor of U.S.O.M., writes, "It is apparent from casual observation that the problem of excessive drinking is not confined to European countries."

SOUTH AFRICA

Dr. Karl W. Heese, '35, minister in the Dutch Reformed Church, is a member of the Society for Education on Alcoholism and a member of the Synodical Commission on Alcohol Problems. Dr. Heese made a report on his study tour of America, including the School session, to various Commissions and Unions on his return.